William P. McKenzie Spoke In This City On CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

As Dealt With By One of Board of Lecturers

In the Christian Science Church, Jackson street west, last night, Rev. William P. McKenzie, a member of the board of lecturers of the First Church, Scientist, of Boston, gave a free lecture on the teachings of the science.

He said, in the course of an address lasting about an hour: All down the ages men have been blessed by the kindness of God. Some have answered back in the bitter influence, and have praised the source. These have given to us our enduring literature in the Scriptures.

Mrs. Eddy says, "God is universal; confined to no spot, defined by no dogma, appropriated by no sect. Not more to one than to all, is God demonstrable as divine Life, Truth and Love; and His people are they who reflect Him—that reflect Love."

The search of man through all his years is for something satisfying and enduring. Because if the deceptions of false beliefs men go on spending their "money" for that which is not bread and their labor for that which is not satisfaction. But the testimony of the Scriptures is that in every age men have found the actual truth; not truth relative to the blooming and fading theories of their time, and so as transient as they, but truth that from everlasting to everlasting is the same. This truth has made of a certain number of people the most salient proof of healing, whether of sickness for persons, or of plague among the people, or of national ruin tending to defeat and disaster. The appearing of the truth causes immediately the reversal of the error which has been posing as fact and accepted as reality.

Eliza raised from the dead the widow's son, confirming the proof of divine Love which had preserved her household in the famine. Eliza proved in many ways the benediction of the God of Israel which she bore in her heart. The Israelite leprosy he showed that this was the God of the earth. The kings of Babylon, and Darius the conqueror, who saw Daniel's proof of divine Love, were led to glorify the God of Israel as the God above all. Isaiah and Jeremiah and Hosea declared that he was the source of healing and health. Hezekiah foretold the universal benediction when he said: "The earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea." And Malachi, who took his figure from the sun rather than the sun, would arise and shine upon man healing with his rays. But they all looked forward to the coming of one who would present infallible proof revealing the character of the God of the whole earth.

God is best known where there is most likeness expressed. For their day the patriarchs and prophets were wonderful in their outstanding righteousness. But for the whole world of Christ and his Godlike constitute the adequate revelation regarding God's kindness in man, fulfilling the hope and vision of the prophets.

When the fulness of time was come, God sent forth his Son who might receive the adoption of sons. "The characteristic of the Son was obedience," he said. "I came down from heaven not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me." He indicated that it was of the very essence of his life to express God. "I came to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work."

The Son then was a manifestation of instantaneous obedience to God. Consequently we are able to learn the character of the Father from the words and works of the Son. Christ Jesus accepted this test, and demanded that men should judge him by it, for he said: "If I do not the works of my Father, believe not me, but if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works."

The initiation of Christian Science began with the promise of God's friendship by a Christian woman who bravely and intimately realized what the prophet Isaiah had declared regarding the divine power: "Hast thou not known? Hast thou not heard? That the everlasting God, the Lord, the creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is he weary." When fainting down to the gateway of death Mrs. Eddy felt the impulse of truth, which came upon her as the wind's breath. She was impelled to turn to the Scriptures, and guided to read the story of the healing of the paralytic man laid by his friends at Jaffa's feet; and she was enabled to realize that the power then present to heal could not change through the ages, nor ever about. Upon this power of God she relied for her help, and she said: "I was amazed; and God gave power to the faint, and increased strength for her, till with the breath of just awe she, declaring herself healed."

It is not claimed that the experience of Mrs. Eddy was unique in Christian history. Wherever there has been spiritual faith, men have been able to discern and prove to some extent the goodness of God. In times of crisis of religion, healing has frequently accompanied the preaching of the gospel. It was so in Germany in 16th century. He was able to heal his friend Melancthon when he seemed to be dying. And in the great movement which resulted in Methodism, there were many instances of healing, of some of which John Wesley speaks. In spite of the great number of those who found clarification of thought and the cure of bodily distress from the divine source through their spiritual faith, and their "prayer of faith," Mrs. Eddy was the only one who was enabled to translate her experience in such a way as to discover the law and the principle upon which the experience depended. She speaks of the experience being to her what the falling apple was to Newton. It was a revelation to her of the law of the universe for the right reasoning which led to a discovery.

She was qualified like no other student or theologian of her time, to comprehend the basic truth of the Scriptures, because she had gained in her own life a proof of God's friendship to man of similar nature to that which is recorded. Men have gone to the Scriptures with every sort of a theory, and have sought to prove the verities from the words of the record. She turned to the words recorded seeking to understand them by virtue of an experience of healing.

When her discovery was complete she made clear that its law was the teachings and demonstrations of our satisfactions and the lives of prophets and apostles.

The time was ripe for the discovery of God, not as the personal ruler selecting courtesies for personal advantage, and bestowing or withholding, but as "saving principle," or universal law, reaching all mankind with its "truth" as clear as the sun's blessing, even the unthankful. The Christian impulse in the hearts of men was awaiting guidance.

and nothing is a final remedy for human fear except the divine truth of being. Ten thousand remedies are proposed, yet mortals who divide fears into classes, and give them names. Each century has its outstanding fear, which is its plague; and think of the myriad remedies produced by superstition and pseudo-science for the plagues of past ages. But age by age the people of God have lived apart from the fears of the multitude. By their trust in the Highest they have been comforted, that is, made strong; "They have been comforted, that is, made strong; and the winds might blow and beat upon their refuge, but it fell not. Christian Science is offering to all the peace which has been participated in by the few."

U. S. JUSTIFIED IN ITS COURSE

Elihu Root States Case In the Senate Yesterday.

AMERICAN DEAD

Furnishes Reason That Flag Insult Did Not.

Washington, April 21.—Senator Root electrified the Senate to-night in his speech supporting the Lodge substitute.

"I shall not prolong this debate," he said, "for I believe that whatever action we shall take ought to be taken to-night. There should be no further delay."

As Senator Root began, the British Ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, took a place in the diplomatic gallery.

Senator Root said that the Foreign Relations Committee resolution, while omitting the name of Huerta, made plain that it was directed against the "highest man in the cabinet" for the President and the highest confidence in his purposes.

"But we are not asked to express our confidence in him," he said. "We are asked, as a part of our duty, to declare a certain course of action in the face of the situation 'justified.' We are called upon to do our duty to the hundred million people of the world, and our duty to the civilized world."

NOT JUSTIFICATION. The resolution, Senator Root said, called for "forced" armed intervention of the de facto Government of a friendly nation to make amends for an insult to the flag of this country.

"We cannot justify this," he continued, "on our confidence in the President. We must justify ourselves before the confidence of the people of our country and before the Congress. What is that justification? Mark you, I do not say it is not justification. I ask what it is."

Senator Root reviewed the Tampico incident with its full details as given by the President. He said the incident was an "insult to our flag." "But," he said, "the officer who made the arrest was himself arrested. The commander at Tampico apologized and General Huerta also apologized. These amends were not sufficient to the commander of the American vessels, and he demanded a salute to the flag."

AMENDS INSUFFICIENT. Senator Root said he agreed that the amends were not sufficient, as coming from "the de facto Government," although they would have been sufficient coming from an individual. A dispute arose, he said, as to the details of further amends, the customary and usual incidents surrounding such a salute.

"This was the matter in dispute between this Government and the de facto Government of Mexico, and the justification upon which the resolution now before the Senate is based."

"This justification, it seems to me, is manifestly inadequate. If this is all that there is between this Government and the poor, harried people of Mexico, it is manifestly inadequate. But is this all?"

He then to-night that Vera Cruz has fallen; that four American marines lie dead; that twenty lie suffering from wounds; is there nothing else but this dispute of the number of guns—the form and ceremony of a salute—to justify the sacrifice of the American lives?"

"Deeply as the President desires to limit the scope of his actions to the maintenance of peace, all history suggests that once lighted the fires of war cannot be quenched at will. It is in its essence that we are to vote to justify to-night. What the result of these incidents so man can tell. Men are not so easily deceived as to believe because of the action we are to take to-night. American homes will be devoted. American children will go

SLIDE EXCHANGE

For Educational Purposes In Anglian Country S. S.

Toronto, April 22.—It was decided yesterday at the semi-annual meeting of the Church of England Sunday School Commission, held in St. James' Parish House, to institute a lantern slide exchange in connection with the work for the benefit of country schools. When the details have been arranged it will be possible for even the smallest of country Sunday schools to use lanterns with the largest item of expense removed. In other words, they will be able to borrow glass slides from a central exchange by paying little more than the express charges. The operation of the scheme was left to the hands of a special committee.

The financial report was considered fairly gratifying, though only $5,000 of the $10,000 asked for was received. In regard to finances, it was felt that the parents, as well as the children, should contribute liberally to the commission's work. For practically amounts to the religious education of the young.

It was reported that the number of persons taking up a study of the teacher training course had shown a gratifying increase. In this connection it was decided that the commission should have its own text book on teachers' examinations. Canon Bedford, of Montreal and Rev. Mr. Hill were appointed a committee with power to add to their number to take up this matter.

Manager Yates is Well Satisfied With Several Players--Circuit News.

Another good two hour practice was indulged in by the Canadian league yesterday afternoon and judging from appearances they will be in fine condition for the game on Saturday with the Stars and Stripes at Niagara Falls. Manager Yates is well pleased with his men, and although he refuses to make any rash predictions as to the outcome of the league, he admits that the Hamilton team will be fighting near the top position all season.

Lunch and Ransome, the two men sent here by Jack Dunn, of Baltimore are certainly showing some good speed and it would not be surprising if all of Dunn's men after the first show the season closes. Dunlop has shown great speed around shortstop during the past few days and he is a man of life which will be something that Murphy of last year's team lack.

"Bud" McDool is showing up well with the local club, and even if he falls to land a berth on Wednesday he will get from now until the season opens up will do him the world of good. Gilchrist has just about got the second base position covered, but "Bud" has shown great speed during the past few days, and may still be a fixture on the team.

The team will leave for the Falls on Sunday morning at 9:30, via the Grand Trunk, and despite the fact they should arrive in Niagara Falls in plenty of time before the game.

Brantford, April 22--"Chubby" Coose is back with Brantford. That was the most important bit of news handed out at local baseball headquarters this morning. Coose, who has been remembered, was with the Red Sox last year, and won the gold watch for the most valuable player on the team. During the winter he was traded to London in exchange for "Rube" Denney, and by London was traded for Snyder, a catcher, for the Saginaw club of the South Michigan League. By Saginaw Coose was sent on to Dayton, and he was up yesterday with Dayton.

Players who reported to-day were Fred Samsky, who is a very likely looking lad. He is a native of Hamilton, and is expected by Manager Dunn to be a member of the local pitching staff. R. Lattin, who will give Wagner a run for the second base position; Albert Hoenke, who is trying out for the first base position; and a young fellow named Volney, who was with the Red Sox for two weeks two years ago; Charles W. Bette, who was a pitcher, and Matty Lamond, catcher.

The only men not to report are pitcher Lester Voss, who has been given until to-morrow to get here, owing to his being unable to get away from the 24th, and Alvin Gray, who has been placed on the suspended list, because of not reporting does not look good for the management.

This afternoon a good workout was had in batting and catching at Agricultural Park, but the weather remained overcast.

Chatham, April 22--Jones, the Woodstock recruit, was the first player to be released by the Ottawa Baseball Club at present in training in Chatham. He spent Monday morning.

Two Thousand See Opener at Baltimore 3000 See Fed. Game.

Providence, R.I., April 21--Pitcher Ritter, the burly recruit landed by Manager Kelley from the Giants, split the honor for the leads in the opening day battle with the Grays here to a three-base wild throw in the ninth inning giving Manager Donovan the counter that decided a 5 to 4 victory. The clubs entered the night with the score deadlocked at 4 all. The Leafs went out in order in the first half and everything pointed to an extra inning, with the advantage in favor of the visitors who from the start had the edge on the local outfit. Fabrique, the first hitter for the Grays, worked Ritter for a pass and Jack Onslow, who followed, laid down a sacrifice bunt to the box. Ritter picked up the ball, but he was laboring under such a nervous strain that he chucked it wild past Jordan, and before it could be returned to the pitcher the visitors had taken the lead with the tally that decided the contest. It was a heartrending finish for the Kelley lads, who had fought like lions for the victory at every stage of the journey. Ritter was heart-broken over the blow.

The battle was a typical opening day affair, with streaks of long playing mixed with dashes and brilliant work. The pitching was very erratic. Bill Haller, who toiled for the Grays, pitched with a great deal of brilliancy. He pitched a perfect game in the early innings, but then he gave away a game better exhibition. QUESTION BOX

Points Explained at Lecture Last Night.

Great interest is being manifested by the non-Catholics of the city in the lecture course now being given for their benefit at St. Mary's Cathedral, Father Conway answered the questions deposited in the question box and sent to the Paulist Fathers by mail the last few days. Some of the queries answered last evening were as follows: Is it a sin to marry your first cousin? Does not the Bible say that a Bishop must be a married man? What do you mean by an indulgence? Is purgatory a place? Why do Catholics finish the Lord's Prayer? Why does your church forbid cremation? Is it not degrading for a man to confess his sins to another man? Why do you invite Protestants to attend your services and at the same time forbid Catholics to go to ours? Is this fair? Have you not too many ceremonies in Catholicism? Why do you baptize babies when the Bible says, "repent, believe and be baptized"? Can a baby believe? Why do you use holy water? Do you believe that the Pope has the power to annul marriages? Why do you charge to get a piece of paper out of purgatory? Is not the Catholic Church opposed to liberty of thought and the exercise of individual judgment? Are illegitimate children barred from the kingdom of God as the Old Testament taught? Are the new deacons forbidden in the Catholic Church? Should not all men be equal? Is it prohibited, inasmuch as it invites to immorality? Prove that a priest has the power to pardon sins.

The following were some of the answers given by Father Conway: "If the ceremonies do appear silly and meaningless, remember that the trouble is not with us, but with you who do not understand the symbolism or know their ancient Christian origin. Not a word is said, in a gesture made or in a prayer performed in the Catholic Church, which has to do with anything but the initiation, 'Judge not according to the appearance,' said the Lord, 'but judge a just judgment.' John vii. 24.

"We could, perhaps, worship God without ceremony; but why by going contrary to human nature, the teaching of the Old and New Testament, and the constant practice of the Christian people from the beginning of the Christian era? Ceremonial is natural to man. We are not disembodied spirits, but creatures made of body and soul. It is a fact that in everything else we give expression to our feelings. We know and feel interiorly. Why then, should religion be the exception? Why should ceremony be the mere thing human, viz., in society, in the courtroom, in the army and navy, in the lodge, and yet, in religious things, things divine?"

"The first aim of one of our questions: 'Why do we make so much over love of country?' Why for instance, when we go to New York in October, 1893, fresh with the laurels of the victory at Manila, did the whole city clothe itself in mourning, fly the American flag and our citizens with one voice and the heroes of the Spanish-American war, with professions on land and sea, and fireworks playing of patriotic airs? A cynic might have remarked: 'Why make such a fuss over love of country? Did they die?' The true American answer: 'It was to give expression to the feeling of patriotism.'"

"So Catholic, believing with the majority of faith, that the church is really present upon the altar, so that our churches are indeed the temples of the living God, who give outward expression to their love of Him. Therefore silver, gold, flowers, incense, lighted candles, statues, architecture, sculpture, painting, music—all strive to pay their homage."

BLOODSHED NOW IN S. MEXICAN TROUBLE

Seizure of Vera Cruz Customs House Ended in Sharp Battle.

Four Americans Killed, 21 Wounded—Over 100 Mexicans Reported Dead.

Vera Cruz, April 21.—The first fire was fired in the war with Mexico at five minutes after 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Marines and bluejackets from the Utah, Florida and Prairie landed at 11:10 this morning and seized the Customs House of Vera Cruz without opposition. Leaving a guard at the entrance to the Customs House, the American forces took up positions commanding the streets leading toward the central square of the town, the Plaza de la Constitución, machine guns and field guns were placed in position to cover all the streets converging on the square.

Admiral Fletcher's orders were that the landing forces should occupy these positions and make no attack on the Mexican troops unless they were attacked themselves.

MEXICAN SOLDIERS OPEN FIRE. Scarcely had the troops placed the guns in position when Mexican soldiers appeared on the housetops overlooking the square.

Two shots rang out. Within a few minutes three volleys came from a Mexican force 400 yards from the positions occupied by the Americans.

Flames of smoke were repelled to immediately by the bluejackets, and the firing became general.

News-Admiral Fletcher was informed of the attack on the men by the Mexicans, he ordered the guns of the fleet to open fire on the positions occupied by the enemy.

Capt. Wm. R. Rush, of the Florida, located a large force of Mexicans firing on the United States troops from the tower of the Customs House and ordered his men to open fire on this point.

Several volleys from the tower were struck three times, slanting the Customs House.

Captain Rush signalled to the transport Prairie on board of which was Admiral Fletcher, as follows: "I am being attacked from the right and rear, north of the roundhouse, shell that district."

At the same time it was noticed that sharpshooters from the roof of the Customs House were firing on the men.

Two American bluejackets and two marines were killed and several wounded. The dead are: Schumaker, coxswain of the Florida; Poulet, seaman of the Florida; another marine, name not given.

Two wounded men are known as: C. J. Leahy, N. Schwartz, G. D. Cameron, J. P. Piesse.

All the men above are seamen of the Florida.

Disburse, electrician of the Florida; Davidson, draine and McMillan, privates of the Second Regiment of Marines, were killed.

FEDERALS ATTEMPT TO STAND. Under the heavy fire from the warships the Mexicans were driven from the Customs House and the roundhouse, where they attempted to make a stand.

The Prairie, which is lying in the harbor, fired a shell into the water near the harbor front, turned her guns to the south and fired at the Mexicans who were gathering and trying to take refuge in the narrow streets there.

At 2 o'clock several boatloads of bluejackets from the battleship Utah were landed at the east of the Customs House. As the boats drew near the wharf, the Mexicans were fired on.

At 2:15 the Mexicans were firing on the boats along the waterfront. These boats were shelled and the Mexicans, and the bluejackets were able to land without losing a man.

near the western edge on the northern side, and with the Mexicans unable to do more than keep up an annoying but ineffective fire from housetops, Capt. General Mass was told to remain in command, to ask if he was not ready to surrender.

It was learned that when the Mexicans yielded Captain Rush had his orders of continuing to fight until the tactics he was using or of charging all positions, or of calling on the Mexicans to surrender.

NO CHANCE NOW TO AVOID WAR

Such is Feeling in Washington Officialdom.

LONG, HARD TASK

Will be Settlement of the Present Trouble.

Washington, April 22.—American marines and bluejackets are now in possession of Vera Cruz, the principal port of Mexico. The seizure of the city cost the Americans four lives and twenty wounded, while the Mexican losses have been estimated unofficially at between one and two hundred men.

The first shedding of blood came when the Mexicans, under General Mass, opened fire on the American landing force from Admiral Fletcher's fleet. With the firing of these shots, the last hope of avoiding an open declaration of war disappeared.

The United States will now be forced to move against Mexico with all the force of its tremendous military and naval power. No attempt was made here to-night to conceal the tremendous consequences that are likely to follow from to-day's developments. It means the expenditure of millions of dollars and the risking of thousands of lives.

While no formal action was taken by the executive military and naval departments, it is believed that the United States will be immediately recalled from Mexico City, and the Mexican Government will be forced to surrender.

Mr. McMillan's bill to amend the motor vehicle laws was not taken up to-night. It was expected to be taken up to-night, but it was not.

A bill was also passed allowing any motor vehicle that so desired to hold its license on New York's Day.

HURON'S POPULATION DECREASES.

Goodrich, April 21.—According to the census report from the County of Huron, now in the hands of County Clerk Goodrich, the population of the county has decreased by 383 persons in the last year. Last year the population was 16,500.

Some speculation, however, shows that the population of the county is 16,500.

With all the efforts of the city of Huron, the population of the county is 16,500.
